Brown Wire Gun Company. Incorporated in Maine, 1903. Capital stock $10,000,000. Par $10. Dividends, none. Officers (1906): John W. Brown, president; Franklin Vreeland, secretary; Winfield P. Porter, treasurer. Address (1907): 5 Beekman Street, New York, N. Y. Value of stock: The above company was organized to succeed the Brown Segmental Wire Gun Company, which concern was never incorporated. In 1902, the Brown Segmental Wire Gun Company was an operating concern, and all during its existence was managed by trustees, J. H. Brown and H. M. Munsell, who issued trustee certificates, but at no time was incorporated. It was stated in 1902 that the trustees were waiting for the United States Government to accept its guns before incorporating the company and although we do not find it was successful in obtaining a contract with the Government the Brown Wire Gun Company was organized. This company was formed to manufacture a gun, the principle of which was the use of a large number of steel sheets rolled so as to form a strong tube around the center core of forged steel. Around these sheets a number of layers of heavy steel wire were wound under a pull of 2,500 pounds, and outside of this an outer jacket was shrunk. Those interested in the invention stated that this made it practically impossible for a gun of this type to explode. In 1906 a gun was built for experimental purposes and tested at Sandy Hook proving grounds by Government experts, and the result obtained, we understand, was sufficient to prove that the claims made by the inventor and his associates were well founded. Up to March, 1906, the company had not reached the manufacturing stage and the management were trying to raise additional funds ($1,500,000) for this purpose. We understand that a good deal depended on securing these funds and as there is no mention anywhere that we can find that the company obtained these funds, we are of the opinion they were not secured. We do not find the stock quoted at the present time and no sales are reported, but Field and Fay, brokers, located at 53 State Street, Boston, Mass., quoted the stock at 4 cents bid in February, 1906, and at the same figure in the latter part of 1907. During the year of 1907 the company abandoned its New York City office and nothing has been heard of it since.

Buffalo & Montana Company. The above company was incorporated under the laws of Arizona April 24, 1905, with a capital of $50,000 par value of shares $1 each. The property was situated in the Cooke Mining District, Montana. All attempts at mining in this district up to the present time (April 1, 1911) have been failures, on account of the lack of transportation facilities. At that time, a prospective railroad to this district was reported in the papers, but they had been reporting one for 20 years before that, and up to 1911 it had failed to materialize. Branch railroads had been built to six mining districts in Montana but none of these proved to be of much merit and doubtless this mine would have proved the same were a railroad built to it. Last known reports in 1911 were that the company was still in the hands of the receiver, who, it was reported, had done nothing for over a year or so and unless something was done, the property would doubtless be sold at a sheriff's sale to pay the debts of the company. It is reported that since incorporation the company failed to pay its annual fees and was therefore declared legally dead.

The following was reported in the press on May 20, 1911: "This is one of the companies with which L. E. Pike, promoter of Eastern Consolidated Oil notoriety, was connected, and its present difficulties are laid by the officers of the company at Pike's door. These men unwittingly played into the promoter's hands by giving him authority to sell the bonds of the company, which, was making preparations to construct its plant at Butler. It is said that the company never received the money to which it was entitled from the sale of these bonds, and as a result the plant was never completed. Recently some of the insiders have been buying back the bonds at 20 cents on the dollar and there is likely to be an attempt made to rehabilitate the proposition, with Pike eliminated." These bonds were first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds due 1943, and the trustee is the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

Butte & Western Mining Co. Incorporated in South Dakota on September 20, 1920. At the present time this company is idle. However, we have received the following information from L. O. Goodman of 83-84-85 Hirbour Bldg., Butte, Montana, who is the representative of this company. "I would not consider the stock of the company to be worth very much under the present conditions. I consider them to have a very valuable mining property, but the affairs of the corporation became financially involved and to the extent that no work has been done on the property for the past two years and for that reason, the property is lying idle and is not producing ore which, of course, makes the stock of very little value. However, parties from New York City have recently investigated the property and made a very favorable offer which I expect will be considered by the stockholders shortly after the first of the year. The New York parties are very substantial people and if they take over the property, I consider it a foregone conclusion that the stockholders of this company will receive a very handsome profiit on their investment."

Cairo and Norfolk Railroad Company. Chartered March 18, 1908 under the laws of Kentucky to build from Cairo, Ill., to Norfolk, Va., a distance of about 800 miles. Capital stock authorized $25,000 per mile, subscribed $2,875,000 par $100. The funded debt consisted of an authorized issue of $12,500,000 first mortgage 5 per cent. 20 years bonds, dated May 1, 1908, due May 1, 1928, interest payable May and November 1st, Chicago Savings Bank & Trust Company, Chicago, Illinois, Trustee (now Chicago Trust Company). The last reported officers were: L. W. Goods, president; H. C. Neale, vice president; R. E. Lochridge, treasurer; E. C. Weston, assistant secretary; and an office at Wickliffe, Kentucky, and at 111 Broadway, New York City. The original purpose of this company was to construct a line of road from Cairo, Illinois to Norfolk, Virginia, a distance of about 800 miles, but up to June 30, 1911, none of this road had been constructed. Circulars filed by the company with the Interstate Commerce Commission for the years 1908-1911 indicate that the charter of the company would lapse in two years if no line of road was constructed. Our information is that the company never built any road, but that it took over an abandoned road between Wickliffe and Winford, Kentucky, 11 miles, which is now under water. Company does not report to the Railroad Commission of Kentucky. Under date of April 4, 1928, the Chicago Trust Company of Chicago, Illinois, advises as follows: "Replying to your favor of March 30th, relative to the Cairo & Norfolk Railroad Company, we wish to advise that we are unable to secure any information relative to the value back of these bonds. The company built only a very small portion of the railroad which was originally anticipated. We have never been requested by the bondholders to take any action relative to a foreclosure under this trust indenture and we are of the opinion from what information we have that the expense involved in such a foreclosure would not be justified. We regret that we have such little information at hand relative to this company but we do not feel it advisable to take any action unless the bondholders are willing to stand the expense. We have endeavored to get information from the Secretary of Kentucky, but even he is unable to give us any information other than the company is not in existence at the present time."

Call Switch Company, Inc. This company was incorporated in Arizona in 1907 with a capital stock of $10,000,000 par value $1. The officers of the company were as follows: Ira A. Call, president and general manager; Willard Call, vice president, secretary and treasurer. Company was reported to own patent rights to manufacture a switch automatically operated by electricity and controlled by track circuit. It could be operated from a tower in any style of interlocking plant without change of operating mechanism. Switch was claimed able to withstand all weather and did not become clogged with snow, dirt, coal or any other obstacles, and also claimed to be only switch on market that could safely be trailed through when set in the wrong position, without injuring the switch or jeopardizing facing traffic. The last statement available of company's financial condition was in 1916 at which time the company reported assets amounting to $10,221,077.37
with liabilities of $18,253.90

$10,202,823.47

Among these assets was an item of $10,018,049.56 called patent rights which was not considered a valuable asset as far as creditors were concerned. Another item of $50,000 covers capital stock of the Call Switch Frog Company. That item was covered by value of stock. An item of $14,241.91 covered switches-models. These were of slight practical value from the creditor's standpoint also.

Represented by	$10,000,000.00	capital stock
Less: Treasury stock	2,345,890.00
	$7,654,102.00
Surplus	2,548,721.47
	$10,202,823.47

In a letter from Secretary Call in 1916 he stated that the company was not at that time on a productive basis, inasmuch as they were developing and creating a market for their new patent device. The stock was never actively traded in and the last quotations were in 1924 when 200 shares were offered at $.01 in April and 200 at $.00½ in October with no bids. Brokers dealing in stock at that time were Post & Flagg, New York, and Hoit Rose, Troster, New York. Letter from Secretary of State of Arizona of July, 1916, said that the company had complied with the law in all respects with the exception of filing their 1916 report and payment of fees in the matter of $20.00. The company was promoted by Ira Call and he closed up his offices in New York about 1918 and stock at that time was reported as having no discernible value. The latest address of the company is 8th and Bryant Streets, Denver, Colorado. We do not attach any value to this stock.

Camden Land Company of Camden, Maine. Organized in 1896 under the laws of Maine with a capital stock of $720,000, par $3; transfer agent, Guarantee Trust & Safe Deposit Company, and the registrar the Fidelity Trust Company of Pennsylvania. Originally this company was reported to own about 800 acres of seashore land on Pononcscot Bay, near Camden, Maine. It appears that in about 1902 property at Camden, Maine, had a boom as people thought that at some future time it would become a seashore resort. With this idea the management of this company held to the property and for this reason the stockholders became dissatisfied and in April, 1902, a number of the stockholders called a meeting for the purpose of combining and demanding a representative on the board of directors, believing that with active management sales of the property could within a reasonable period realize several times the capitalization. From then on no trace of the company can be found and as it filed its last return with the Corporation Division of Maine in 1907 and the charter was suspended in 1907, we believe it has ceased to exist. In January, 1910, 200 shares of Camden Land Company of Maine sold at auction for $6 the lot and everything considered, we believe the stock of no value.

B., the former share allowed to go to sale some years ago, as it was not considered worth protecting. The property in St. John was more valuable and the taxes were paid for some years out of proceeds of the sale of lots which had been made in 1911-1912-1913. When there were no more funds available from this source, a meeting of the bondholders was called, who decided not to put up any more money to protect their bonds. Canadian Venezuelan Ore Company, Ltd. Incorporated June 29, 1910, in Novia Scotia, for the purpose of mining, selling iron ore, etc., and entered into contract with the Venezuelan Government, by which the Government ceded to the company the Imatica iron mine, which was part of the famous Fitzgerald concession. In the contract with the government, the company agreed to deepen the bar to the Orinoco River and build a lighthouse. The Orinoco Company, which formerly held the Fitzgerald concession, forfeited it in 1909, under the protocol signed by the late William I. Buchanan, then special American commissioner in Venezuela. Company also agreed to pay Venezuela Government, in addition to payment previously made, 30 cents per ton as royalty on all ore shipped until $385,000 shall have been paid, when royalty was to be reduced to 10 cents per ton. After acquistion of the property, company started to exploit the mine on a large scale and it was reported in September, 1913, that company had doubled its output and expected to reach 3,000 tons a day by the following February. Company entered into large long term transportation contracts, long term contracts were also entered into for the products of the industry with Pittsburgh interests. In the early part of 1924, when company had expected to have such an increase in their output, a deterioration in the quality of the ore occurred and a sudden petering out of the ore bodies took place. This, combined with a drop in the market price of ore, forced the company into liquidation. Company had an authorized capital stock of $4,500,000 common, and $500,000 preferred, par value $100. No dividends were to be paid on stock until the bonds had been redeemed, unless and until the company deposited with the trustee of the bonds a sum which, with compound interest, shall be sufficient to retire bonds at their maturity. Funded debt of $1,000,000 first mortgage 15-year gold 6¾s, due January 1, 1927, interest January and July 1, at office of Royal Bank of Canada, Montreal, Quebec, and New York, N. Y. A sinking fund amounting to 2 per cent. of bonds annually, or not less than 10 cents per ton of ore mined and exported, callable at any interest date at 105, secured upon mining properties, real estate and plant. Trustee, New York Trust Company. G. F. Pearson, of Halifax, was appointed liquidator in June, 1914. The New York Trust Company, trustee, brought suit against company and liquidators to foreclose the $1,000,000 mortgage. Interest on bonds was defaulted on January 1, 1914, and January 1, 1915, and on April 13, 1915, and bonds were presented for payment unsuccessfully. Principal and interest owed by company amounted to approximately $1,118,314. There were outstanding also $4,347,500 in common stock. On July 16, 1915, after a decree of foreclosure had been entered by the court on May 21, 1915, the property, subject to the mortgage, was sold by the special master for $10,000, the sale being confirmed October 15 and December 20, 1915. $914,000 of the bonds were turned in by purchaser in part payment of purchase price. The Canadian Assets, Limited, was the assignee of the purchaser at foreclosure sale, and an order by the court dated February 11, 1916, directed the execution of a deed to the assignee. Court also directed the deposit with the clerk of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York of the sum of $584.80, the balance of the cash paid on account of the purchase price, after deducting costs and expenses, to be applied to the payment of $6.80 upon each of the outstanding $86,000 par value bonds which were not turned in, in part payment of the purchase price. Holders of undeposited bonds should present their bonds to the Law and Equity Department, third floor, room 349, United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, Post Office Building, Park Row, New York, and request the clerk to furnish an order to obtain funds amounting to $6.80, less clerk fee, for $1,000 par value bonds, which have been turned over to the Treasury Department of the United States Government.

Canandaigua Water Works. This was a private water company built in 1884, which operated in Canandaigua, N. Y., many years ago. We understand that the village later put its own water plant in operation, which wrecked the business of the private company. Its water pipes were finally dug up and all the property sold. The last report was in 1881, as follows: Cost, $185,000. Debt, $161,000 at 6 per cent. Expenses, $14,760. Revenue, $22,000. Consumers, unmetered, $17,500. City, fire protection, $4,600. We have endeavored to locate funds for these bonds, but as far as we can learn, the 6s of 1904 have no value whatever. On July 6, 1899, $4,000 pay value of these 6 per cent. bonds sold at auction for $18 the lot, and we accordingly submit this bond as valueless at the present time.

Capital stock authorized $250,000, outstanding $215,840, par $100. No dividends paid to date. We have been advised by the Equitable Trust Company of New York, 11 Broad Street, that they are now making a distribution on Carolina & Yadkin River Railway Company bonds at the rate of $8.80 for each $1,000 bond with coupons of June 1, 1917 and subsequent attached. When this payment has been made, we are of the opinion that the bonds will be of no further value. Since such a small payment is being made on these bonds there is very likely nothing left for the common and preferred shares in this company.

Central New York Southern Railroad Corporation. Organized under the laws of New York on March 30, 1914, and purchased the properties of the New York, Auburn and Lansing Railroad under mortgage foreclosure sale. Line of road, Auburn to Renwick Junction, N. Y., 34.64 miles. Capital stock, authorized $725,000 preferred, and $1,275,000 common; outstanding $725,000 preferred and $375,000 common, par $100 each. All stock was placed in a voting trust, the trustees being F. R. Ford, 115 Broadway, New York City; Edward Cornell, 34 Nassau Street, New York City, and R. B. Williams, Ithaca, N. Y. No dividends paid. The funded debt consisted of $1,000,000 first and collateral trust gold 5s, dated May 1, 1914, due May 1, 1964, interest May and November 1, at Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company of New York City, trustees. The officers in 1923 were as follows: L. L. O'Dell, president; Donald Stewart, vice-president; S. C. Stivers, secretary and treasurer, and the office was at Ithaca, N. Y. Earnings show that from 1917 to 1922, inclusive, operations resulted in annual losses, so that by December 31, 1922, there was a deficit of $312,049. In January, 1923, company applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to abandon its line of road. Subsequently the Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company of New York instituted proceedings for the appointment of a receiver. On February 9, 1923, Referee Stephens announced that foreclosure sale of the entire railway property of the company would be held on March 5, 1923, at the County Court House, Ithaca, N. Y. On April 29, 1924, the Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the abandonment of the company's line of railroad. At the time it was stated that the company had shown that heavy financial losses, recurring annually, had absorbed available funds, had made it impossible to continue operations. In order to give the communities affected by the abandonment an opportunity to save the line from being scrapped, an option was given to a committee representing such communities to purchase the railroad and equipment for $150,000, which was represented to be $35,000 less than the net scrap value. At the time the communities' committee was unable to raise the amount and the railroad offered its property to the New York Central Railroad, but this offer was also declined. In the report of the New York State Public Service Commission for 1924, it is stated that the operation of the road was suspended October 25, 1923, due to lack of funds. Also that the first and collateral trust mortgage of $1,000,000 was foreclosed March 5, 1923, and the assets, consisting of securities owned $797,719.88, and physical property $1,135,200.89, sold for $250,000, and $200,000, respectively, the transaction being finally consummated May 29, 1924, and the securities passing to A. Macrery, and the physical property to Ernest A. Smith, of Oradell, N. J. A deficiency judgment amounting to $821,383.92 was filed against the company in the interest of the bondholders. It is therefore quite apparent that the preferred and common stock were wiped out through the foreclosure sale of the property in the interest of the bondholders, the entire assets being sold for $450,000, as compared with the $1,000,000 bonds outstanding, so that, in our opinion, the capital stock is of no value. On December 1, 1923, $12,500 bonds sold for $100 the lot, and on March 28, 1925, $50,000 bonds sold for $1,300 the lot, both sales being at auction in New York City.

On June 1, 1891, the railroad and steamship properties, but not the banking business, were leased for 99 years to the Georgia Pacific Ry. Co. and operated for that company by the Richmond & Danville R. R. Co. In March, 1892, the president of the company was appointed temporary receiver and the lease to the Georgia Pacific Ry. Co. annulled. Later in March, 1892, the receivership was made permanent and beginning July of that year, default was made in interest on its bonds and those of its controlled roads. Property was sold under foreclosure on October 7, 1895, and reorganized on October 17, 1895, as the Central of Georgia Ry. Co.

Central Railway Company of Iowa. Second mortgage bonds dated April 15, 1871, due April 15, 1901. The old Iowa Central defaulted in the payment of interest on the bonds secured by its three mortgages and went into the hands of a receiver some 40 years ago. Each of the mortgages contained a provision to the effect that in case of foreclosure, the holders of a majority of the bonds might form a new company on such terms, conditions and limitations as a majority should approve, and that no bondholders should have any interest in the proceeds of the sale under foreclosure, except so far as such proceeds were presented in the securities of the new corporation. After a decree was entered, an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. The result was a confirmation of the decree. After the decision was given, the property was sold and deeded over to the new company. We believe the new railroad has been foreclosed since that time.

The common stockholders had the right to subscribe at rate of one $100 bond of new bonds, for each 10 shares of common stock held, and to receive a bonus of 5 shares of common stock for each $100 subscribed. Common stockholders not availing themselves to this right to subscribe were to receive 1-10 of 1 share only, of common stock in new company for each share held. Dougherty, assistant secretary. General office was at 43 Exchange Place. The present office of the Salamanca Sugar Corp., is at 67 Wall Street, New York City. Under date of May 25, 1928, we were informed as follows by Murray, Aldrich and Roberts, 15 Broad Street, New York City. "In reply to your inquiry whether the eight per cent. notes of Central Sugar Corporation can still be exchanged for the non-cumulative preferred stock of Salamanca Sugar Company, in accordance with the plan of reorganization, we advise that such exchange cannot be made unless the notes were deposited, under the plan of reorganization, while that plan was pending. The time expired, within which deposits under that plan could be made, more than four years ago. In the liquidation of Central Sugar Corporation, property of that company was sold at judicial sale in Cuba and the proceeds of the sale were not sufficient to pay the claims of the preferred creditors, so that no distribution was made in the liquidation to the holders of the Central Sugar notes. The present situation is that Central Sugar Corporation, as we understand it, has no assets with which to respond to the claims of any of its creditors, and Central Sugar notes and stock do not have any value so far as we are aware."

Certigue Mining & Dredging Company of Columbia. Incorporated, South Dakota. Capital stock: Authorized, $3,000,000; par, $5. Dividends: None. Office: 80 Wall Street. Officers: Lewis Groat, president (or Louis Groat); Geo. D. Galphin, secretary; John Hart, treasurer. Property: Company held about 1,000,000 acres of land in western Colombia, containing extensive placer deposits. The land had been in the family of one of the organizers since 1731, and was originally made up of grants from the Spanish crown. The property was not extensively worked as a whole, but certain portions were worked over by hand and good profits were made. Machinery was installed in 1908. Remarks: Stock sold for $2.50 and was placed among friends of the directors. In 1908, the officers were receiving no salaries and the company had managed to keep out of debt. But by March, 1910, a debt of $34,000 had been incurred for the greater part of which notes were issued. Because $30,000 additional was needed to operate the property, it was proposed: (1) that stockholders contribute $16 for each 100 shares held, to cover indebtedness and provide needed capital; (2) in the event of a reorganization being necessary, that a new company be formed with a capital of 3,000,000 shares of par value of $1 each, 600,000 shares to go to original shareholders, 900,000 to be placed in the treasury, and the other 50 per cent. or 1,500,000 shares to be divided among the holders of the company's notes. At the time it was reported that a concerted failure to contribute to this would mean the disbanding of the company and the elimination of whatever value the shares then held. On May 23, 1916, Wm. H. Houston, Red Bank, New Jersey, was appointed receiver by a Federal Judge, John J. Gilray, Newark, New Jersey, a creditor asked for the receiver, alleging the company needed one to protect creditors. The property is said to have been sold in bankruptcy. On August 19, 1916, $39,000 worth of first mortgage 7 per cent. bonds were sold at auction for $500 the lot. On November 26, 1921, 50 shares of stock were sold at $1 the lot. The stock has been valued at zero for years in many inheritance tax proceedings, the company having been entirely wiped out. In view of the above, we believe the bonds and stock valueless at the present time.

Chesapeake & Ohio Canal Company. Chartered January 24, 1824, by the State of Virginia and subsequently by Maryland and Pennsylvania. Capital stock issued $8,226,594.67, par value of $25. Funded debt, $2,000,000 Maryland loan 6 per cent. bonds due 1870, $4,375,000 Maryland loan 5 per cent. bonds due 1890, $1,699,500 bonds having no preference 6 per cent. bonds due 1885, $500,000 repair bonds act 1878 first lien 6s due 1898. Length of canal: Georgetown to Cumberland, 184.5 miles. This company was organized to render more perfect the communication between the seaboard and the interior, and took over the Potomac Compnay, which concern had already been formed for this purpose The construction of the canal was commenced on July 4, 1828, and from this period the company operated the Potomac Company works, disposing of the revenue, as prescribed in the charter and amendments thereto in the liquidation of the debts of the extinct association. By the time the canal had been finished to Harper's Ferry the means which had been provided at its commencement were exhausted, but the general government had adopted an entirely new policy in regard to internal improvements, and the State of Virginia declined to furnish any addition to the scanty aid which it had already afforded. It became evident that the whole burden of the completion of the work would devolve upon Maryland, if determined to carry the work through to a point which it must reach before it would be available as a means of developing the resources of the coal and iron region. The difficulty of the case was met by an issue of 6 per cent. bonds to the amount of $2,000,000, the tolls of the work being pledged for the payment of the interest. Still the means were found to be inadequate, and again the legislature of the state was appealed to for aid and a bill was passed at the extra session of 1836 authorizing the issue of $3,000,000 in 7 per cent. bonds. This act required that the bonds should be sold at a premium of 20 per cent., the premium to be invested in a sinking fund for the redemption of the principal. However, no sales could be affected at this rate and the bonds were subsequently exchanged by the state for $3,200,000 in 5 per cent sterling bonds. In 1838 the legislature authorized a further subscription to the capital of the company of $1,375,000 in the same character of bonds. The proceeds of these issues were exhausted without completing the work further than Handcock, 134½ miles from Georgetown, and the legislature refused additional subscription, its interests in the canal having attained a vast sum ($7,200,000). In 1840 the company announced its inability to pay the interest on their liabilities, and then commenced the direct liability of the state, which in its turn found itself unable to meet the usual demand, and such was the embarrassed condition of the public treasury that payments could not be resumed before 1848. In the meantime the work on the canal west of Cumberland had been suspended. In 1844 the legislature of Maryland passed an act authorizing the company to borrow, or raise on bonds with preferred liens on the revenue, a sum not exceeding $1,700,000, and the next year operations were recommenced and with the avails of this loan and other credits, the canal was carried to completion, and the first boats were passed to Cumberland in October, 1850. However, rival railroad lines built competing roads after which the company was never able to operate at a profit and during the past 60 years no interest has been paid on the bonds. In the latter part of 1899, it was reported that the State of Maryland would sell its entire holdings of bonds and overdue coupons to the highest bidder. Canal operated by receivers in 1904 on petition of bondholders of 1844. These bonds were owned by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, which was operating and holding the canal for the express purpose of preventing it from going into the hands of competitors. On September, 1918, the United States Railroad Administration took over the operation of the property with plans for the development, and property, it was reported later, was to resume operations on March 19, 1919, although government decided to discontinue the financial assistance given to company the preceding year. There seems to be no further information available and on August 5, 1920, Fred C. Squire, 32 Broadway, New York, was dealing in this stock but with no offerings and no bids.

Capital stock, authorized and outstanding, $13,000,000 of common and $17,000,000 of preferred. Par $100. Remarks: On April 16, 1906, the president of the company was appointed receiver in a suit to foreclose the mortgage, dated July 1, 1897; interest thereon being defaulted since January 1, 1905, inclusive. On February 20, 1907, a decree of foreclosure was entered, pursuant to which the property was advertised to be sold May 3, 1907. By an order entered on the motion of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, April 16, 1907, the bondholders were required to present their bonds for redemption on May 3, 1907, and the Baltimore & Ohio deposited with the U. S. Trust Company of New York, trustee of the mortgage, a sufficient sum to pay the amount due on the bonds and coupons with interest. All further proceedings under the foreclosure were stayed. On January 2, 1908, a stockholders' protective agreement was drawn up and a committee organized to protect the interests of the stockholders in the impending foreclosure suit. Certificates of deposit were issued for stock deposited with this committee. Each holder was asesssed 50 cents per share deposited to defray any costs of the committee. On January 8, 1910, the Baltimore & Ohio Chicago Terminal Railroad Company was organized under laws of Illinois as a successor company to the above company whose property was bid in for $16,000,000 by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad under foreclosure on January 6, 1910. This new company took title to all the property of the former company (Transfer Railroad), excepting certain outlying commercial properties valued at approximately $1,500,000 which were retained by the purchasers and which were partly to be sold. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, on June 30, 1907, owned $8,508,000 of the preferred stock of the old Chicago Company and later took over the preferred stock owned by Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. The Chicago Terminal Transfer Railroad Company when sold under foreclosure in 1910, paid for account of the holders of the bonds but not in pursuance of a reorganization plan. Fred C. Squire of 32 Broadway, New York City, is interested in the preferred stock.

Chicago Utilities Co. Incorporated Maine, April 9, 1912, to acquire property of the Illinois Tunnel Co. and the Chicago Subway Co. These had been sold under foreclosure in March, 1912. Capital stock, authorized and issued, $18,794,000 common and $30,005,000 5 per cent. non-cumulative preferred, par value $100. Transfer Agent, U. S. Mortgage and Trust Company, New York. Registrar, Guaranty Trust Company, New York. Bonded debt, $9,999,900 gold 5's due 1942. The interest on these bonds, due April 1, 1915, was defaulted, subsequent coupons in default. Trustee, United States Mortgage and Trust Co., New York. Office, 574 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. Officers: S. W. Tracy, president; J. C. Payron, secretary and treasurer. Directors: Joseph Harris, R. J. Dunham, A. Slade, W. S. Worth, W. J. Gavin, S. W. Tracy. After having failed to cover operating expenses for a number of years, the Chicago Utilities Co. went into liquidation and assets were sold at foreclosure July 15, 1921, to satisfy claims of bondholders. The sale price amounted to $750,000. When final adjudication had not been obtained up to January, 1924, holders of $9,024,900 first 5s series A should receive about 11 per cent. cash distribution. As the first mortgage series A bonds are not covered by the purchase price, it is obvious that the remaining securities posses no value. Litigation: In January 1924, it was stated that 21 stockholders of the company had filed a bill in the U. S. District Court asking to set aside the sale of the company's property, charging that, although the deal was made ostensibly at a public sale, the property was sold to a prearranged purchaser at an agreed price without an appraisement or sufficient publicity. In 1922 the preferred stock was quoted as of nominal value, and the common as without value at all. We have been advised as follows by the trustee of the company: "The property held as security for 5 per cent. 30-year bonds dated June 1, 1912, was sold and the net proceeds distributed among the holders of the series A bonds. This amounted to $131.67 for each $1,000 bond and that amount will be payable to the bondholders upon presentation of their bonds at the office of the U. S. Mortgage and Trust Company, 55 Cedar Street, New York City." In view of the deficiency in the payment of the bonds, it is evident that neither the common nor the preferred stock are of any value.

retary. Office: Kansas City, Mo., 1908. No development work has ever been done on any of this company's properties—it was purely speculative. A. E. Stillwell, president of the company was then president of the United States & Mexico Trust Company, Kansas City, Missouri. The bank changed officers in 1909 and was in liquidation about 1916. This whole situation appears to have been a stock selling scheme. When the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad Company went out of business it listed in its assets the Chihuahua & Sinaloa Development Company. When the entire assets of the railroad were sold, the bondholders received little, if any, on their investment. The mining property was practically worthless. On December 7, 1927, 25 shares of the Chihuahua & Sinaloa Development Company were sold at auction for $1 the lot. We believe the stock was wiped out and is absolutely worthless.

We do not know from newspapers and other indirect information that the revolutionists blew up the mine and stole everything of value which was loose and we further understand that under Nicaraguan law the Nicaraguan creditors take precedence to the exclusion of all outside creditors. There is still a slight hope that in the event of peace being restored in Nicaragua the outside creditors and perhaps eventually the shareholders may obtain some satisfaction.

Coal Land Securities Company. Incorporated July 5, 1912, in West Virginia to underwrite, purchase, seil, deal in and exchange securities of industrial and other securities. Company underwrote a large amount of Lackawanna Coal & Lumber Company bonds, receiving therewith a liberal bonus of that company's common stock. This latter company was reorganized in 1918 into the Federal Coal Company. Company's assets consisted largely of bonds and collateral trust notes of the Lackawanna Coal and Lumber Company taken at par, and a large block of shares of that company's stock upon which a valuation of $7 per share has been placed, but the par value of which was $25. Capital stock: Authorized: $10,000,000; outstanding on January 1, 1915, $3,836,550; par $10. In January, 1915, par value of shares was reduced from $50 to $10 par. Stockholders received 5 shares of new stock for each share of old stock held. Dividends: January 15, and April 15, 1913, 2 per cent. each; July 15, and October 15, 1913, 3 per cent. each. July 15, 1914, 2 per cent. cash and 5 per cent. in Lackawanna Coal & Lumber Company stock. October 15, 1914, 2 per cent. in Lackawanna Coal & Lumber Company stock; January 15 1915, 2 per cent. in Lackawanna Coal & Lumber Company short term notes; none since. Bonded debt: $44,270, two-year 8 per cent. registered investment certificates, series A, dated January 15, 1915; due January 15, 1917; interest January 15 and July 15, at the County Savings Bank, Scranton, Penn. Directors: The foregoing and H. A. Connell. General office: Scranton, Penn. Remarks: We have been advised by the receiver of the company, Mr. C. O. Sutton, Coal Lands Securities Company, Union Bank Building, Scranton, Penn.: "The present status of the Coal Lands Securities Company stock is that 60 per cent. of the stock is subject to a distributive decree of court for payment by the receiver. All of this has been paid that could be located. The balance is in the hands of a stockholder's committee (on deposit with the Scranton Lackawanna Trust Company). This stock has also received its proportionate distribution from the receiver." He was authorized to make distribution to all stockholders of record, of a sum equal to four mills (.004) per dollar, based upon the par value of the stock issued and now outstanding. Those who deposited their stock with the stockholder's committee will probably get 50 per cent. each of the Federal Coal Co. income revenue and voting trust certificates on the par value of their stock deposited. The receiver is about to ask for his discharge by the court and surrender of the considerable bond required, the effect of which will put the stock out of existence. The stockholder's committee is about to put into effect its plan for distributing the securities it acquired at the receiver's sale some months ago to those who went along with it.

Collins Safety Razor Company. We locate a Collins Safety Razor Company that was incorporated about 1919 to manufacture a rotary safety razor device. As of September 30, 1919, the company had issued $573,965 of stock at prices to yield a total of $620,289. Against this it had $356,160 of net tangible assets. Par value of stock was $10. Stock was originally sold at four or five times par. After September 30 it was said that a bond issue was sold and also more stock. Company was unwilling to furnish information. Stock was quoted in La Salle St., Chicago, at $15 bid and $20 asked about March 20, 1920. In December, 1920, the company was put in the hands of a receiver, owing about $225,000, part of which was secured by mortgages on plant and machinery and $90,000 was unsecured. It was expected at this time that property would be sold at receiver's sale. The prospects of the stockholders looked very poor at this time. As of September 2, 1922, E. McNeal & Company offered 50 shares of Collins Rotary Safety Razor Co. stock at 2½ but received no bids. In Volume I of the Marvyn Scudder Manual it was reported that the Delaware charter of the Collins Rotary Razor Company was repealed on January 28, 1920, the taxes remaining unpaid for two years.

Colombian Emerald Company, Ltd. Registered in Great Britain in December, 1908. Property was purchased under judgment by the Colombian Government for £250,000 and, in June, 1914, resolutions were passed winding up the company's affairs.

Colombian Emerald Syndicate, Ltd. This company was incorporated in Delaware in 1918 to develop some old Spanish mines in Bogota, Colombia, South America. The mines have, in years gone by, produced some very valuable emeralds. The last known officers of the company were: Julius A. Arroyo, president; Joseph J. Paris, vice president; Albert H. Gross, secretary; J. Robert Rubin, secretary. The Delaware charter of this company became inoperative and void on March 19, 1924, and proclaimed by the Governor January, 1925, for non-payment of taxes. The Colombia Emerald Syndicate, Ltd. went through bankruptcy. The properties were sold through the courts, the creditors receiving a small percentage. The stock, so far as we can ascertain, is worthless. The properties were bought by the Chivor Emerald Corporation.

Colombian Emerald Syndicate, Ltd. Company was organized under the laws of Delaware with an authorized capital stock of $200,000 to operate Emerald mines in Columbia, South America, and in 1923 had an office at 165 Broadway, New York City, with the following officers: Joseph J. Paris, president; Albert H. Gross, vice president and secretary; J. Robert Rubin, treasurer. In April, 1923, a petition in bankruptcy was filed against the company at which time it was stated that the liabilities amounted to $48,000 and the assets consisting mainly of 3,000 to 4,000 carats of emeralds including an emerald weighing 630 carats valued at $20,000, which was pledged as collateral for a loan. Mr. J. Robert Rubin, the former treasurer, is now located at 165 Broadway, New York City, and we understand he was the attorney for the receiver. It is stated that the properties were sold for $7,000 or $8,000, and that the creditors received only a small proportion of their claims and that the stock was entirely wiped out. Subsequently, the Chivoe Emereld Company was organized under the laws of Delaware and took over these properties, a large proportion of which were later sold to the Colombian Emerald Development Company, and the Chivoe Company received 400,000 shares of this company's capital stock. The Chivoe Company now is practically a holding corporation having retained only a small portion of the Emerald Property in South America and the capital stock is said to have a book value of $3.50 a share. Douglas Fenwick & Company, bankers of 66 Broadway, New York City, are interested in the company. They state that this stock while having very little market has sold around 35c a share. They further state that no provision was made for the capital stock of the Colombian Emerald Syndicate, Ltd., by the Chivoe Emerald Corp.

The company is in debt almost $60,000 and it will be necessary to receive some money to reopen the mine. You are, of course, aware that silver has advanced and at the same time the development in the neighborhood of the Colonial has improved the outlook very materially. I have been furnishing money to keep things going and I am very anxious to begin operations again in the spring if I can find enough stockholders who will put up the needed funds."

Bunting treasurer. This company was marked off the active records of the Auditor General of Pennsylvania on August 17, 1909. This railroad, we understand, was once owned by Mr. Perot, but Mr. Perot is dead and the company out of existence. The property in which the Colonial Springs is located was at one time owned by C. Arthur Fisher of Orwigsburg, Pa., and now is owned by Charles E. Hires, soft drink manufacturer of Philadelphia. This road was undoubtedly the Phoenixville, Valley Forge & Stafford Electric Ry. Several years ago the Phoenixville Trust Co., trustee for the bondholders, sold the road and the property was scrapped. A protective committee was formed and a majority of the $9,532,000 outstanding bonds were deposited with the Central Trust Company. Several attempts were made to effect a plan of reorganization but failed through the refusal of the Denver & Rio Grande R. R. and the Colorado & Southern Railway, each of which owned a half of the stock, to become interested. Finally the property was sold at foreclosure on April 21, 1917, for $1,425,000. Purchasers were some mining interests at Colorado Springs. The Colorado courts approved the sale and ordered the $1,425,000 distributed to bondholders in final settlement. Accordingly there was distributed $82.12 for each $1,000 bond with $1.73 for the January, 1913, coupon and $1.70 for that due July, 1913, or a total of $85.55. There will be no further payments of any kind. The Central Trust Company as depositary charged $7 per $1,000 bond to cover the expenses of the committee. Bonds on which no payment has been made are worth the amount of the distribution. Those on which the sum has been paid are worthless. Columbia Graphophone Company, Washington, D. C. Charter revoked by proclamation April 6, 1925.

Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Company. The Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Company was placed in the hands of receivers on October 15, 1923, and was adjudicated a bankrupt on November 10, 1923. In February, 1924, the assets of that company were sold by order of the court to pay creditors. The proceeds of sale were only sufficient to pay something like 27 cents on the dollar, leaving nothing for the distribution to the stockholders. The worthlessness of the shares was therefore established in February, 1924. In the Plan of Reorganization which was adopted, shareholders were given the right to subscribe to new stock at $100. per share. This right, however, was of no value as the Participation Certificates, which were exchangeable for Voting Trust Certificates, could be purchased at the time in the open market at considerably less than the subscription price. As a result of this condition the Reorganization Committee gave depositing stockholders the right to withdraw their deposits and secure the return of this subscription. The four or five depositing stockholders immediately availed themselves of the opportunity to obtain the refund of their subscription. Stockholders were notified of the reorganization of the company and of their right under the reorganization which, as we have just stated, proved to be worthless. Any stock of the Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Company held by your client represents a total loss.

Columbia Graphophone Mfg. Co. Incorporated under the laws of Delaware December, 1917. Purpose: To succeed the American Graphophone Company, incorporated May 3, 1887, in West Virginia. Commercial Mining & Milling Company. First mortgage 20-year 6 per cent. gold bonds. These bonds are dated March, 1911, due March 1, 1931, interest March and September first, not convertible, callable at 105 per cent. and interest in whole or in part on and after March 1, 1916, and the authorized amount is $200,000. Company's circular of 1911 stated that these bonds were a first mortgage in all the property of the company now owned or to be acquired consisting at that time of 6,320 acres, situated in the Pocahontas Coal Field of West Virginia, together with certain timber property. This company was a coal mining promotion, which we understand purchased its charter in 1903. These bonds were offered for sale by the company and by E. B. Staggers, trustee, in 1911 at par and interest. At that time, E. B. Staggers, the trustee was located at 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, but no trace of Mr. Staggers at that address can now be found by our Philadelphia representative. At the time these bonds were offered for sale, A. E. Woods, mining engineer, reported in part as follows: That the property consisted of a coal and timber tract of about 6,320 acres along the top of Pine Mountain Range in McDowell County, West Virginia. He estimated the coal under the tract as 44,000,000 tons and the lumber as 20,000,000 feet of board measure. Also that the property was not reached by a railroad. At the time the bonds were offered for sale we reported that "no earnings are obtainable and we should think from the general outlook of things that this could be a good proposition to steer clear of." No trace of the company can be found for several years and bankers of McDowell County, West Virginia, state that they never heard of this company or Pine Mountain Range and that they do not believe any such range of land exists. It is our opinion there is no value to these bonds, but if you hold a large block, probably you would like to take the matter up with Joseph E. Crockett, an attorney at Welch, West Virginia.

Commonwealth Finance Corporation. The Commonwealth Finance Corporation was originally incorporated under the laws of South Dakota on June 24, 1916, and on April 16, 1921 was succeeded by a Delaware corporation of the same name and the stock exchanged share for share. Charter permitted corporation to engage in the loaning of money secured by mortgages on personal or real property, the purchase and sale of real estate, stocks, bonds and other investments and to buy and sell any kind of property. Capital stock authorized $10,000,000 7 per cent. cumulative participating preferred, par $100, and 75,000 shares of common, no par; outstanding $6,419,900 preferred and 65,103 ½ shares of common. Preferred stock has preference as to assets and dividends. Registrar and transfer agent: Delaware Trust Company, Wilmington, Delaware. Dividends on preferred were regularly paid quarterly January, April, July and October 15, until October 15, 1920, which payment was suspended by order of the courts of South Dakota. Dividends were later resumed and regularly paid (semi-annually January and July) to July 15, 1922. On common stock initial dividend of $1.00 was paid on April 15, 1920; July 15, 1920 $1.00; none thereafter until July 15, 1921 when $1.50 per share was paid; October 15, 1921 and January 15, 1922, $1.75 was paid; April 15, 1922, $1.75 per share; July 15, 1922, 10 per cent. paid in stock; none thereafter. As of December 31, 1922, there was outstanding $560,350. Collateral trust note (authorized $1,000,000) issued at various dates and maturing from one month to twelve months from date of issuance, for additional working capital and other corporate purposes. Secured by pledge of promissory notes or bonds secured by mortgages on real estate, or deeds of trust thereof, to an amount equal to 150 per cent. of the par value of notes issued. Manufacturers Trust Company of New York, New York trustee. Consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 1923 (latest available) shows assets of $9,165,663; as of 1922, $10,223,655 and as of 1921, $13,916,382. The officers were: Harry D. Tudor, president; L. M. Umeted, vice-president; N. A. Merritt, secretary and treasurer, and an office at 100 Broadway, New York City. Corporation was engaged until early in 1921 in financing of the purchase of commercial and pleasure automobiles upon the time payment plan and subsequent to that year corporation was engaged in the purchase of promissory notes or bonds secured by real estate mortgage or deeds of trust on business properties (apartment houses, office buildings, etc.) mostly located in Washington, D. C. On July 25, 1924, on application of B. V. Badgley, Montclair, N. J., a stockholder, Warren I. Lee of Brooklyn, N. Y., was appointed Receiver of the corporation by Supreme Court Justice Benedict, Brocklyn, N. Y. On February 2, 1925, the receiver was discharged and in July, 1925, corporation was again placed in the hands of a receiver at which time the liabilities were placed at $300,000 and the assets at less than $80,000. The receiver is Mr. Louis B. Wohle, a lawyer, at 50 Broadway, New York, N. Y., where we are informed that the probabilities are that the creditors will not be paid in full and that the stockholders will be wiped out entirely. The Delaware charter was repealed on January 27, 1919, at which time two years' taxes were unpaid. Originally in March, 1917, the Commonwealth Finance Corporation preferred stock was offered for sale with a 50 per cent. bonus of common at $125. In June, 1927, the preferred was offered for sale at $1 a share, and in October, 1927, at $1.75 a share with no bids and in September, 1927, the common was offered at 75 cents a share with no bids. On December 15, 1928, 5 shares of preferred and 5 50/100 shares common were sold at $1 the lot at auction. There is no present market for the stock. We have received the following letter on February 25, from the trustee: During the past year the substantial claims which were pending in the Treasury Department have resulted in recoveries of refunds aggregating about $97,313.86. There are still some smaller refund claims pending and there are also some smaller items of property upon which realization has not been had. The general claims which have been filed against the estate aggregate over $400,000 while cash now on hand is about $96,000. The trustee is prosecuting and also defending suits involving substantial amounts; and the final position of the estate will depend upon the outcome of this and possibly other litigation. It must be said that the creditors will receive a very unsatisfactory dividend and the stockholders nothing, unless the trustee with the approval of the referee should embark upon difficult and uncertain litigation and should then succeed in making a large recovery from it. The advisability of this has not yet been determined.

Commonwealth Hotel Construction Co. Organized under the laws of Delaware to erect and operate the Hotel Commonwealth as a co-operative enterprise. Capital stock was reported to be $20,000,000 par value $100. It was planned that the hotel should cover an entire city block, to be twenty-eight stories high and to contain approximately 2,500 rooms. E. L. Barnett, Inc., of 18 East 41st St., New York City were made selling agents for the stock and were reported to receive $14.50 a share for each $100 share sold. In this connection it is of interest to note that their salesmen originally received $8 for each share sold and were thereafter to receive $10 a share for each $100 sold at par. About 1918 or 1919, E. L. Barnett, Inc., acting for construction company purchased the block between Broadway and Seventh Ave. and 55th St. and 56th St., New York City, for $3,750,000 to be used for the construction of the hotel. However, the hotel was never constructed and the proposition was reported as nothing more than a stock selling scheme, with investors' money paying probably salaries and nothing to show for the money except an empty lot. On January 24, 1924, Newman Erb, Charles H. Wilson were appointer receivers by Judge Winslow in the Federal District Court for the Commonwealth Hotel Construction Co., and the 7th Ave. and 56th St. Hotel Realty Corp. Later on in March, 1924, a reorganization committee was formed headed by Milton H. Hall, vice-president of the Mt. Vernon Trust Co., Mt. Vernon, New York, to work on co-operation with the receivers and on May 20, 1925, Joseph P. Day, as special master sold the last remaining holdings under order of Judge Winslow, to a syndicate headed by John Gerosa for $2,640,000. Hugh McItamney, formerly at 51 Beaver St., New York City, attorney for the receivers advised us at an earlier date that no distribution had been made to stockholders and that due notice would be sent to all stockholders before any distribution takes place. It was estimated that the common stockholders would receive from $10 to $15 a share in final liquidation. Just when this payment was to be made was rather indefinite. The Delaware charter was repealed for non-payment of taxes on January 24, 1927. We have communicated with the receiver at 51 Beaver Street, New York, and he requests that you send the name of your client seeking information on this corporation to him. He also states that no definite value can be placed on either stock until the affairs of the corporation are entirely liquidated which will probably be a year or more. To get in touch with the receiver just address Commonwealth Hotel Construction Corporation, 51 Beaver Street, New York City.

Community Finance Company. This company had an office at 1482 Broadway and at Suite 755, Calvert Building, Baltimore, Maryland. Its officers were last reported to be: Austin H. Montgomery, Joseph J. McDonald and Henry L. Schwartz. This company ran a "blind pool" and as a result of the authorities of the state of Maryland and the city of Baltimore making a drive against such enterprises in the summer of 1922, the business was shut down and entirely exposed. It was reported in the press of March 26, 1925, when Austin H. Montgomery and H. L. Schwartz were brought to court, that the corporation's business amounted to $180,000 a month. The money, according to a witness, was received from persons, who were beguiled by promises of returns of 92 per cent. semi-annually through the operations of the blind pool. Witnesses testified that large returns continued during 1921 and 1922 and that the "profits" paid by the corporation were out of funds received from new investors. It was also said that Schwartz, who was office manager, severed his connection with the business in the fall of 1922 and was succeeded by John F. Callan. Schwartz, it was said, objected to the plan of seeking to induce those, who had paid money to the corporation, to turn over all of their profits for stock in the Elementary Battery Company, another of Montgomery's alleged activities. After this exposure, the company, we understand, failed in the fall of 1922, with outstanding obligations of about $10,000,000, and it was said that Montgomery disappeared with cash aggregating at least $650,000, according to statement by federal officials. Those who are familiar with blind pools can readily understand that when one goes "up" there is not very much left for those who happen to be concerned in it. Under these circumstances, we do not believe that your receipt for General Stock Pool Operations given by the Community Finance Corporation is of any value as of December 19, 1927.

Comstock Tunnel Company. Bondholders' protective committee: Formed under an agreement dated August 13, 1919, in the interests of holders of this company's first mortgage 30-year income bonds which came due September 1, 1919. Committee: Franklin Leonard, Jr., chairman, George B. Burbank, Donald C. Catlin, Lyman N. Clark, Sylvester F. Gascoigne. Secretary, Emanuele Trotta. Foreclosure sale: All the property of this company covered by the mortgage was sold at public auction on November 12, 1919, at Virginia City, Nevada, and was purchased on behalf of the above committee. Plan of reorganization—new company: The committee under date of November 26, 1919, sent a circular to all bondholders, outlining a proposed plan of reorganization. This plan contemplated the formation of a new company, the Comstock Tunnel and Drainage Company, with a capital of 2,250,000 shares of low or nominal par value, and the transfer to it of all the property subject to $1,500,000 first mortgage income bonds (being 50 per cent. of the total amount of the original bonds, which aggregated double the amount in consideration of which they were issued). These income bonds were to be distributed to depositing bondholders of the old company to the extent of 50 per cent. of the face value of their holdings. All shareholders of the old company were to have the right upon surrender of their shares and payment of an assessment (fixed at 5 cents per share up to December 31, 1919; subsequently 10c per share) to receive an equal number of shares of stock in the new company. Time for subscription to the new stock expired April 15, 1920. In view of the foregoing we believe these shares are valueless at the present time. All claims against the company recognized, and approved by the trustee of the bonds, were to be liquidated by the new company, which would be empowered to issue its bonds therefor. The new company would also undertake to pay the liquidation value of the bonds held by non-assenting bondholders. This plan was evidently consummated and, we understand, these bonds can be exchanged at the present time. Bonds to be presented to Mr. Trotter, secretary to the bondholders committee, at 25 Broad Street, New York City.

Comstock Tunnel Company. The stock of the Comstock Tunnel Company, $2 par value, yellow certificate, has been without value since 1919 when all the property of the company was sold pursuant to the terms of the mortgage. That stock was formerly listed upon the New York Stock Exchange. It has no connection whatever with the stock of the Comstock Tunnel & Drainage Company, which is listed upon the New York Curb Exchange. In 1919 a privilege was extended to the old shareholders of the Comstock Tunnel Company, whose shares had become valueless, as above stated, to subscribe to new stock of the company organized by the bondholders which had bid in the property, and the privilege was extended to subscribe for the stock of the Comstock Tunnel & Drainage Company upon surrender of the Comstock Tunnel stock for identification. This privilege was extended three times for a period of about four months and the stock of those who did not wish to subscribe continues to remain without value. Prior to 1919, the stock had sold nominally for a number of years at one or two cents per share because it was known that the company was without funds with which to meet the maturing bonds. If you desire further information, we suggest that you write to Leonard, Cushman & Suydam, 25 Broad Street, New York City.

Messrs. Curtis, Mallet-Prevost, Colt and Mosle, 30 Broad Street, New York City, were the attorneys for the company and they advise that no bankruptcy proceedings were ever instituted against the company. However, they do say that the collateral pledged under the collateral trust 8 per cent. notes due April 1, 1927, with the First National Bank of Bridgeport, represented the entire assets of the company with the exception of a few dollars' cash and when this collateral was sold and the noteholders paid off in part, the stockholders were wiped out. This sale of collateral and liquidation took place during 1926 and it follows that it was during 1926 that the capital stock became worthless. The company has not as yet been dissolved but the attorneys for the company advise that there remains no assets or anything else for the stockholders.

Gold 7s, dated November 15, 1919; due November 15, 1939. Trustees: Bankers Trust Company, New York and the Conqueror Trust Company, Joplin, Mo. Authorized, $1,250,000. Receivership: Company was placed in the hands of A. J. Burnham, Joplin, Mo., and R. M. Turner, New York, as receivers in November, 1923. Officers were Ross M. Turner, president; A. J. Burnham, vice-president; M. A. Pappert, secretary and assistant treasurer, New York. The first mortgage was foreclosed in the circuit court of Jasper County, Mo., and properties were subsequently sold. Pursuant to the decree of foreclosure and sale, the clerk of the above mentioned court, located at Corthage, Mo., was ordered to make distribution on the bonds at the rate of $9.70 for each $1,000 bond. The company is no longer in existence and in view of the small distribution made to the bondholders it is hardly possible that any distribution was made to the stockholders and we believe the capital stock is valueless.

Shares were sold for par $200 or for $264 in installments covering a period of seven years. The company claimed to own 6,700 acres of land located in the Department of Palenque, state of Chiapas, Mexico, 6,000 acres of which were to be planted to rubber. Each share of stock represented 1 acre and the company contracted to plant 200 trees on each acre. At the end of the fifth year they were to bleed to death 200 of these trees, 200 the sixth year and to carefully tap the 200 remaining trees the seventh year. The policy of bleeding the trees in the fifth year was thought to be an experiment and about 1905 the adventure was thought to be speculative. About 1920 this adventure was classed as a stock-selling scheme by the Financial World. We believe the company is out of existence at the present time. There is no market for the stock as far as we can ascertain.

Consolidated Investment Corporation, The. This company was incorporated in 1897 (state unknown) with a capital stock of $5,000,000 par value $1.00 each share, to deal in railway, mining and commercial investments and securities. Was reported to have acquired property located at Funter Bay, Southeast Alaska, comprising 46 claims, each 1,500 x 600 ft. and admitted by the company to be the richest gold property in Alaska. On September 20, 1897, the company offered 250,000 shares of the 4,000,000 shares remaining in the treasury at 50c per share after which the price was to be advanced to par. The company at its organization had an office at 160 Broadway. Press reports of this company's activities at this time were of a very deprecating and sarcastic nature and would give the impression that the officers of this company were engrossed in a stock selling venture of rather a doubtful nature. In 1901 a Consolidated Investments Corporation with an office at 63 Wall Street was dissolved. The officers of your company were reported to be James N. Huston, ex-treasurer of the United States, president; Mr. Horatio L. Olcott, formerly a member of the New York Stock Exchange, vice president; Mr. Allen Boswell Shefer, at one time secretary of the Consolidated Trust Company, secretary. Board of directors included: Samuel R. Franklin, Rear Admiral (retired) U. S. N., General D. S. Stanley, U. S. A. (retired) and the Hon. James N. Tyner, ex-postmaster general of the United States. This is very likely the company which was dissolved in 1901, but without the state of incorporation we cannot say definitely.

Consolidated Mills Corporation. Incorporated Delaware. Properties: Reported to consist of a sugar mill or refinery, an alcohol plant, a sugar plantation, known as Castillo located near Monteiro, Columbia, S. America. Remarks: The Market Financial Service of 40 Exchange Place, New York, promoters of this stock, we understand, is a notorious tipstering organization. It concentrates on one stock and uses high pressure methods of telephone solicitation. They also send out daily market letters to win the confidence of their so called victims. A man by the name of A. Arthur Carter, we believe is the man operating this organization and has been operating this kind of market for several years. It would seem that a man by the name of J. K. Stanlin has bought an option on a lot of this stock and is farming it out. We do not locate any market for this stock and it appears not to be worth much. If further information is desired by you we suggest that you get in touch with the Better Business Bureau at 280 Broadway, New York City.

Authorized $900,000. American Exchange Irving Trust Company, trustee. By circular dated November 27, 1916, the corporation requested holders of the foregoing bonds to surrender the same in exchange for 7 per cent. preferred stock, each bondholder to receive preferred stock to the full par value of his bonds and all annexed coupons. Bondholders were asked to deposit their bonds with the Security Transfer & Registrar Company, New York, depositary. We are unable to find that this offer ever became operative as sufficient bonds were not deposited. As no income was available for payment of interest on the above bonds, which fell due January 1, 1916, the company decided to fund this issue by the issue of new bonds and bond scrip in payment of all the interest due January 1, 1916, and representing interest accruing for the entire period prior to that date. Bondholders were asked to deposit the coupons due January 1, 1916, with the Security Transfer & Registrar Company, New York, which was authorized to issue new bonds and bond scrip to bondholders equal to the face value of the coupons so deposited. The July 1, 1916, interest on the above bonds was paid when due at the Columbia Trust Company (later the American Exchange Irving Trust Company, and now the Irving Trust Co.) The Irving Trust Co. informs us that no funds have ever been provided to pay any maturity of the 6 per cent. serial convertible gold bonds after 1916. The bond scrip, according to the company is worth 25 per cent. of the face value. The bonds and stock, we understand, are traded on the New York Curb market, the bonds being quoted at 20/22 per $100 and the stock at 6c per share. For further information we refer you to the company's office at 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

state authorities. Officers are: President, Dudley A. Degge, 2550 9th Street, Boulder, Colo.; secretary and treasurer, A. L. Degge, 903 Pine Street, Boulder, Colo. We have written to the treasurer and as yet have not received a reply but will forward additional information to you on receipt of same. We have the following information from a press clipping of a company by this name: "Organized about 1913 by a W. W. Degge, who was located for a long while at Boulder, Colo., where it was reported he operated a number of development enterprises which later induced the government authorities to put a stop to them because of the opinion of Uncle Sam that they were operating on fraudulent lines. Mr. Degge then moved to Baltimore where he started to sell stock in the Consolidated Realty & Investment. He claimed that it was a million-dollar company with a million dollars of assets behind it." This company was never favorably looked upon and it appears that this company, reported in the press, would be the same as the one you request. Due to the former connections of the promoter, this stock is no doubt speculative and since there is no market for it as far as our records show, we submit it as having a nominal value only at the present time.

Consolidated Securities & Salvage Company. Incorporated about 1921. This company claimed it could extract values out of worthless get-rich-quick stocks held by unfortunate investors. The manner in which they intended to make money was to charge a cash fee of $2 for each hundred dollars of par value, the fee was called a transfer charge. At the time the company began business it was classed as a money making scheme. No sales or quotations of the stock of this company have appeared for many years and we believe the company has passed out of existence and its shares valueless at the present time.

Consolidated Silver Corporation. Incorporated December 4, 1921, in Arizona, but has failed to pay annual fees or file the regular annual reports since the date of incorporation. The company is not in good standing with the Arizona Corporation Commission for this reason. Any company incorporated under the Arizona law is required to make the annual payment of $20.00 a year and file regular annual reports. Failure to do so for a period of two successive years subjects the corporation to an action through the Arizona Corporation Commission Court to recover the said delinquent fees. There has, however, been no action taken in regard to this company as yet and we have record of 1,500 shares of some Consolidated Silver stock, par $.01, as having been sold at auction at $2.00 the lot on July 28, 1923. We believe the Consolidated Silver Corporation to have dropped out of existence on account of its failure to pay annual fees and to file annual reports.

Consolidated Steel Foundries, Ltd. Letters patent were granted in Canada in November, 1916, changing the name of the company to Consolidated Brass Foundries, Ltd.

Consolidated Steel & Iron Corporation. Incorporated in Delaware in 1921 and was successor to the Hoosier Rolling Mill Company. In April, 1926, the Citizens Trust Company of Terre Haute, Indiana, now the Citizens National Bank and Trust Company of Terre Haute, and Frank J. Wolfe, also of that city, were appointed receivers. The Hoosier Rolling Mill Company had a first mortgage bond covering the properties and it is our understanding that these bonds received only about $6.00 on the $1,000 and that there was nothing whatever for general creditors, bondholders of the Consolidated Steel & Iron Corporation, or stockholders thereof, the bonds of the Consolidated Steel & Iron Corporation being junior in lien to the Hoosier Rolling Mill bonds.

Consolidated Steel & Wire Company. Owned plants at Allentown, Rankin and Beaver Falls, Pa.; Joliet and Rockdale, Ill.; Cleveland, O. and St. Louis, Mo., engaged in the manufacture of wire, wire nails and fencing. Consolidated Sulphur Company. This company was incorporated in Arizona, and it was agreed upon that investors would be the rightful owners of the lots into which the property was divided if no sulphur could be found. However, if no sulphur was found the lots were of very small value. The company was incorporated on November 18, 1919, and since 1923 has failed to make annual reports or pay annual fees as required by law, and hence has no legal existence at the present time. In view of the above and since there have been no quotations for a number of years, we believe the stock to be without value at the present time.

Company was incorporated on April 21, 1921 under the laws of Delaware with a capital stock authorized of $15,000,000 common and $10,000,000 8 per cent. cumulative preferred, outstanding $5,000,000 common and $6,763,654 preferred, par $10 a share. Company originally owned property within the states of Oklahoma, Kansas and California and included a railroad connecting its asphalt properties with the main line of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway. In April 1923, Charles C. Laskey, Huston B. Tache and Sigmund Stern were appointed receivers with an address at 420 Ardis Building, Shreveport, Louisiana. No dividends were paid on the capital stock. The stock is not listed on any exchange and apparently enjoys very little market. We find that Steelman & Birkins, brokers of New York City, quoted the stock on March 9, 1927 at 2c bid and on April 1, 1927 at 5c bid. In addition to this we find that on March 20, 1926, 410 shares of common stock sold for $9 the lot and on December 29, 1926 350 shares of preferred and 250 shares of common sold for $55 the lot, both of these sales being at auction in New York City. The Delaware charter of this company was repealed in 1925, in which year taxes had remained unpaid for two years. The firm of Pugh, Grimmet & Boatner, attorneys of Shreveport, Louisiana acted as counsel for the receivers in that district. They advise us that the affairs of the corporation have long since been wound up and the receivers discharged. There were not sufficient assets to make payment in full of creditors' claims and there was nothing left for the stockholders.

Cottonwood Creek Copper Company. Incorporated New York about March, 1907, with capitalization of $300,000 and reorganized later under the laws of Arizona with capitalization of $3,000,000. Par value $5. Officers: Noah E. Barnes, president; Count Ferdinand Von Hofberg (known as Hans Ferdinand Barnes), secretary and treasurer. Office: Marbridge Bldg., 34th Street and Broadway, New York City, in 1909. Noah E. Barnes, the promotor and former president, was sentenced April, 1910, to not more than 6 nor less than 4 years' imprisonment, for embezzlement of the company's funds. Barnes sent Count Ferdinand to Germany with $150,000 worth of the company's stocks and bonds and he disposed of it among his friends and German nobility. According to the plan one-half of the proceeds were to have been given to the treasury and of the balance Count Ferdinand was to have 2/11 or about 9 per cent., as a commission, 9/11 going to Mr. Barnes. The Count was arrested and charged with misappropriations of $78,000, but apparently was innocent, though a foolish participitant, in the swindle. We can find no trace of the company since that time and believe it has gone out of existence and its stock worthless. The company failed to make annual reports or pay annual fees to the Arizona authorities since 1913.

Credit Foncier Canadien. A Providence, Rhode Island, concern reported to have been organized by some sharp witted Frenchman for the purpose of interesting French Canadians in lumber lands in far off New Brunswick, Canada. Company's capital was originally $500,000 and the promoters sold its stock at from $1 to $1.25 a share. It was reported in the press of July 18, 1914, in an expose of the company's activities that the promoters craftily gave a few shares to priests whose parishes were made up of French people, and claiming the "Good Fathers" were stockholders, succeeded in doing a thriving business. This was done, we understand, with such great skill that in the majority of instances the priests were unaware that their good nature and inexperience were being exploited for profit. In February of 1914, without as much as a "thank you" to the stockholders the company reduced the capital stock to $75,000 and the par value of the shares to 15 cents. It mattered little, however, how much the par value was reduced because the stock was worthless anyway. In view of the above we believe these shares to be valueless at the present time.

Crescent Gold Mining Company. Incorporated under the laws of the State of Montana with stock at a par value of 10 cents per share. This stock was offered at 35 cents in 1905. Company was not well regarded in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and it is reported that Mr. Mann, the secretary of the company, when called upon for information had given so little attention to the matter that he knew little about it and that the mine was situated in Montana, but that he had forgotten the name of the county. The president, L. C. Weimann, it is reported, was the proprietor of a meat market. The vice-president, W. A. Ginner, was formerly a saloon-keeper and later, secretary of the Michigan Union Brewing Company. The secretary, George T. Mann, had been a county treasurer but later a traveling salesman. Montana correspondents in 1905 said that this enterprise was a good thing to leave alone. The company's charter expired by limitation of its charter on June 14, 1920, and since there are no quotations of these shares, we believe the stock to be valueless.

Crow Elkhart Motor Company. This company was incorporated in 1916 in Arizona with a capital stock of $10,000,000, shares par $10. Outstanding $7,000,000; bonded debt $75,000, 8 per cent. mortgage notes. Officers: M. E. Crow, president; Dr. E. C. Crow, treasurer; D. C. Thomas, secretary; A. A. Handler, engineer. The company's factory was located in Elkhart, Ind., and had a capacity of 30 cars per day. The "Crow Elkhart" was one of the best low-priced cars on the market—it met the requirements of a man with a Stutz taste and Ford purse. The stock of the company was originally offered by W. M. Sheridan of Chicago at $5 to $6 per share. About 1917 things began to look very dark for the motor company for they still were persistent in selling their stock with very few buyers. The public thought it about time for Crow-Elkhart to furnish some statement of earnings—for that would be more potent in bringing new capital than all the rosy promises that ran throughout the stock-selling literature. It seems that the public did not have much faith in Sheridan for he had a long career of promoting many companies that had all gone to sleep. On October 11, 1918, the company filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy alleging liabilities of $403,-522 and assets of $364,900. It was stated that entanglements induced by the war and lack of capital had brought to an end the operations of this company. Latest available balance sheet as of January 1, 1927: Assets—Real estate, buildings and g. w., $6,923,572; treasury stock, $3,305,510; Canadian Royalty Cont., $50,000; inventories, $350,-760; investments in other companies, $19,000; accounts receivable (trade), $48,628; accounts (install stock), $35,941; cash, $30,586; total assets, $10,763,-997. Liabilities—Capital stock, $10,000,000; bonded debt, $75,000; bills payable, $54,100; accounts payable, $58,593; surplus, $576,304; total liabilities, $10,-763,997. In 1922, William E. Wider, Elkhart, Ind., was appointed receiver on the petition of the Marnon Sheet Metal Works of Goshen, Ind. In July, 1923, the company's assets were sold for $78,700 as a trustees' sale. After the mortgage was paid off and other bills, we do not believe that anything was left for the stockholders. In view of the above we believe the shares to be worthless.

Curtis-Miller & Company, Inc. Company was incorporated under the laws of Virginia and licensed to transact business in Illinois as a foreign corporation on January 28, 1916, and filed power of attorney and statement in Pennsylvania on January 31, 1916. The right of this company to do business in Illinois was revoked on November 15, 1923, for failure to pay franchise tax July 1, 1923. The Pennsylvania address was 1309 Park Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., but under date of July 7, 1919, there was filed a formal revocation of the registration. The purpose of the company was to conduct a mail order business and the principal office was 1027 West Van Buren Street, Chicago, Illinois. The officers were Herman Mueller, president, and Herbert Appelbaum, secretary. In 1923 company was represented in New York City at 37 Wall Street by Horace S. Gould. The capital stock was never listed on any exchange but did for a time enjoy a fairly active market between brokers specializing in unlisted securities in "over the counter trades". During 1922 the preferred was quoted at bids ranging from 50 to 80 cents, and was offered for sale at from 90 cents to $1.25 a share, while the bids on the common ranged from 25 cents to 35 cents and the offering from 45 cents to 50 cents. The last quotations reported were in January, 1923, at 25 cents bid and 75 cents asked for the preferred and 25 cents bid and 50 cents asked for the common. Since there has been no market for the stock and those investigating in regard to the company at about that time reported that the company had refused to give out any information in regard to its financial condition and it was thought that the stock was purely speculative. As stated in 1919 the regisration in Pennsylvania was revoked and in 1923 the right to do business in Illinois was revoked for the nonpayment of state taxes. Apparently the company has gone out of business and in our opinion capital stock is of no value.

D. & C. Company, Inc. Organized under the laws of New York as the D. & C. Distributing Company and in 1915 name was changed to the D. & C. Company, Inc., "manufacturers of Honey Dew Flour," "First Prize Corn Meal" and other cereal food products with an office at 185 Madison Avenue, New York, New York and the following officers: Edward J. Elsworth, president and director; Irving Halsted, treasurer and director; William W. Shaw, director. The original capital stock was $300,000 but this was subsequently increased to $2,500,000. A dividend of 8 per cent. payable quarterly was declared and the initial payment was made August 1, 1917. The capital stock was sold throughout the country at prices ranging from $4.50 to $7.50 a share. One of the promoters of this company was Nova A. Brown who was interested in promoting the Colorado Yule Marble Co. (failed see Marvyn Scudder Manual, Volume II). United Wireless Telegraph Co. (failed see Marvyn Scudder Manual, Volume II), Funding Company of America and the Franklin Candy Company, both of the latter having failed. W. W. Esterday & Company of New York were also handling the sale of the stock and they failed. It appears that suit was brought on a bill of complaint, on October, 1917, in the United States District Court, Southern District of New York, by Annie F. Hastings, a stockholder of the D. & C. Company, Inc. on behalf of herself and other stockholders, against the D. & C. Company, Inc., and others, alleging conspiracy to defraud purchasers of stock by falsely representing same to be worth par or $5 per share, on or about June, 1916, and since that date that the company was not in a prosperous condition at that time (June, 1916) and has not been since then, that the capital stock was increased on July 29, 1916, being credited on the books to Edward Elsworth (the president of the company and also a director) for consideration of certain formulas and processes, which were alleged to be of no value, that the stock was there marketed at par. Two salesmen were paid up to October, 1918, at least $265,000 for commission; that the company was thus overcapitalized and the value per share of stock rendered almost worthless. On November 1, 1917, William Charles J. Campbell took charge of the company's affairs as receiver. The accountants employed by the receiver reported on November 30, 1917, an excess of assets over liabilities to creditors $89,958.53, which amount however, was not available to stockholders, the subsequent charges and expenses of the receiver being a lien upon the same. On March 14, 1919, the U. S. District Court for the Southern District of New York ordered the sale of the property of the D. & C. Company, Inc., to the D. & C. Company of Delaware, and the sale was consummated, and the stockholders of the D. & C. Company, Inc., have no interest whatsoever in the capital stock of the purchasing company. The price brought by the sale was $103,078.45 and of this there will be nothing left for distribution among the stockholders of the D. & C. Company, Inc., inasmuch as the liabilities to creditors of the receiver and the expenses of the litigation and the liabilities to ante-receivership creditors will aggregate far in excess of that sum. Under the above circumstances we now submit that the value per share of the capital stock of the D. & C. Company, Inc., on or about the date of the increased capitalization, July 29, 1916, depreciated to such an extent as to be of little value, and has become of less value since; so that it may be assumed that on November 1, 1917, when the receiver took charge, that the capital stock was worthless and is so today.

In 1921, company was reported to have an office in the Marsh-Strong Building, Los Angeles, California, but since that year all trace of the company seems to be lost. Damascus Refining and Manufacturing Co. This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware and we understand was the merger of the Damascus Refining Company, The Damascus Manufacturing Company and the Damascus Pipe Line Company. Capital stock consisted of $2,000,000, 8 per cent. cumulative stock preferred (par $10), 10,000 shares common stock Class "A" (no par) and $2,000,000 common stock Class "B" par $10. No bonded indebtedness. Properties consisted of the manufacturing plant of Cleveland, a refinery at Lawton, Oklahoma and 30 miles of pipe line connecting this refinery with the oil fields. We understand that an arrangement had been made with the American Motorists Refining Company whereby one share of Damascus stock was to be exchanged for 5½ of American Motorists stock provided the old stockholders would buy outright Damascus stock to the amount of their original holdings. When 51 per cent. of the American Motorists stockholders were to have transferred their stock into Damascus, the latter company was to take over the assets and indebtedness of the American Motorists. Whether or not this arrangement was consummated, we do not know, other than it was reported that the Damascus Company had paid off $8,000 of the American Motorists indebtedness from which we assume the plan had been completed. L. A. Hughes and Company, New York, offered 15,000 shares preferred and 75,000 shares common Class "B" in units of two shares preferred and one share "B" common at $30 in April, 1923. Also Welsh Davis and Company, of Philadelphia in June, 1923. Transfer agents, Guaranty Trust Company, New York City. Registrar and Depository, Irving National Bank, New York City. On December 26, 1925, 7,000 shares of preferred sold at $20 the lot and 4,134 shares of Class "B" common at $10 the lot at auction. The Delaware charter of the company was repealed for non-payment of two years' taxes on January 26, 1926, and in view of the above auction sale we do not believe the stock of any value. Officers and directors: Warren G. Black, president; Joseph J. Lyons, vice-president; Adrian Wychgel, treasurer; Ralph Blue, W. O. Thompson, Henry Duetemeyer.

Day, Horace L., Co., Inc., 4 White Street, New York City. Horace L. Day, president; R. A. Sanborn, secretary-treasurer. Directors: Horace L. Day, Chas. W. Allen. Capital $40,000. Outstanding: 5,000 shares 8 per cent. cumulative preferred par value $100; 31,250 shares common, no par value. Stock was offered in units of one share of preferred and three shares of common for $223.50. For several years the Horace L. Day Co. was the exclusive importer of Suchard chocolates and cocoas. It was proposed in 1923, that the company manufacture all or a great portion of the chocolates and cocoas in this country, and, for that purpose, the Horace L. Day Co., Inc., was organized. The older company was the basis for the new corporation and was wholly owned by Horace L. Day. For that reason, balance sheets, or earning statements were never given out, so far as we know, and the new company did not publish any reports, that we know of. We understand that a factory was built and equipped and that Suchard chocolates were manufactured there under the supervision of a man supplied by the Suchard Company of Switzerland. In November, 1924, 10 shares of preferred were sold at $8 and 30 shares of common at $.50 at auction. In 1925, Horace L. Day was reported dissolved and it was also reported that H. L. Day was involved in some litigation, which probably was the termination of the company. Since 1922, there have been no sales reported. It was offered at market but had no bids.

hive coke ovens; also a limestone quarry equipped with power plant, crusher, etc., and about 17 miles of railroad connecting coal mines, with equipment consisting of 5 locomotives and 96 cars of various kinds. The outstanding capitalization consisted of $2,000,000 8 per cent. cumulative preferred and $1,811,911.67 common par value $5 per share each, as of July 1, 1919. The preferred stock was preferred both as to assets and dividends and convertible into common stock at the option of the holder, share for share. The dividends on the preferred stock were cumulative at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, beginning January 15, 1918, and that three dividends were paid upon the preferred, viz., 1 per cent. each February 15, March 15, and April 30, 1919, none thereafter. No dividends were paid on the common stock. There were also outstanding as of July 1, 1919, $260,463.97 6 per cent. mortgage notes maturing serially August 1, 1920, to 1922, inclusive, and $185,633.50 six months notes, both of which note issues bieng held by the management and secured as a first lien upon all the assets of the company. The following is a copy of the balance sheet dated July 1, 1919, being the latest available. Assets: Plant and property, $3,912,447.57; improvement account, $221,002.44; capital stock in Mathews Steel & Iron Company, $815,161.67; advance to Mathews Iron & Steel Company, $39,943.02; working assets, $19,462.04. Current Assets: Cash, $1,251.50; accounts receivable, $8,927.52; deferred debit items, $6,904.81; accrued taxes, $1,173.90; maintenance account, $33,-783.78;; maintain survey, $3,047.10; unadjusted debit balance, $394.18; total, $5,063,499.53. Liabilities: Preferred stock, $2,000,000; common stock, $1,811,-911.67; mortgage notes, $260,463.97; six months' notes, $185,633.50. Current Liabilities: Notes and accounts payable $44,563.15; surplus from valuation of property, $746,635.43; profit and loss earnings, $11,756.63; unadjusted credit items, $2,535.18; total $5,063,499.53. In two previous reports on the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company on November 3, 1919, and February 18, 1921, this report was made: From what I can learn from those more or less familiar with the situation, the Dayton Company is the victim of poor management. An instance of this is the payment of three dividends of 1 per cent. each on the preferred stock in the early part of 1919 notwithstanding the fact that the balance sheet of December 31, 1918, showed an excess of current liabilities over current assets and that the earnings were not such as to warrant such payments. A conclusion might easily be drawn that these payments were made to stimulate the market for the stock. At any rate, it is not considered good management to pay dividends when a company is suffering from the lack of working capital. At the present time. I understand that the earnings of the company are inconsequential and that it has only about $1,000 cash on hand." The capital stock of the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company was not listed on any stock exchanges. Originally the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company preferred stock was offered for sale by Fanning, Buck & Company, at $4 a share in January, 1918, and by Friedman & Company at $5 a share in August, 1918. As of February, 1918, the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company offered to exchange $1,000,000 of its common stock, share for share, for stock of the Matthews Iron & Steel Company and that as of December 31, 1918, $811,911.67 of the Matthews Iron & Steel Company stock has been exchanged. The Matthews Iron & Steel Company capital stock was offered for sale by Levett & Company and Hoit & McWilliam, in July, 1917, at $3.50 a share, the par value being $5 a share and that there were no public quotations or sales reported of said stock subsequent to July, 1917, and up to December 31, 1920. In December, 1920, the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company was placed in the hands of a receiver. J. B. Allen, trustee for general creditors, on January 4, 1921, bought in the property of the Dayton Coal, Iron and Railway Company at foreclosure sale for $250,000, the sale being ordered by Federal Judge Sanford under provisions of a deed of trust issued by H. S. Matthews, to the Citizen Trust Company of Chattanooga, with E. A. Nolson, as trustee. The Delaware charter of the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company was repealed on January 23, 1922, by the Delaware State Authorities at which time state taxes were unpaid for 1920 and 1921. At the time of the sale at foreclosure of the property and assets of the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company on January 4, 1921, for $250,000 there were outstanding approximately $400,000 mortgage debts. Although both the preferred and common stock of the Dayton Coal, Iron & Railway Company was freely offered for sale publicly during the last two or three months of 1920 at a few cents a share there were no bids reported at any price. If the shares had any market value at any time during the year of 1920 it was purely speculative and incumbent on the raising of a substantial amount of additional cash. The receiver was appointed in December, 1920, at which time it was well known that no additional cash could be obtained of any benefit to the stockholders. The stockholders were wiped out entirely through foreclosure sale proceedings of January 4, 1921, and therefore in consideration of these facts we do not attach any value to either the preferred or common stock.

Deer Park Investment Company. This company was incorporated in New Jersey on December 12, 1892, with a capital stock of $500,000. Par value $10 a share. The company from the beginning did not comply with the law, we learn from the lawyer who investigated the reports for us, in that they did not file a record of their Board of Directors. It seems that one of the agents of the company and several of the investors became suspicious of the company's activities and started an investigation. The inquiry resulted in the arrest of the president. It has been reported that the president had at another time been involved in a cooperative land scheme, which, we understand, did not have a favorable reputation. We submit this stock as valueless as of September 10, 1928.

J., where it was reported to be engaged in the business of mineral waters, etc. The New Jersey charter was declared null and void by proclamation on January 3, 1905. Some years ago this company had an office at Oswego, New York, from where we are informed that it is not operating at the present time. We understand that most of the stock is owned in Syracuse, New York, but we do not find any market quotations. Apparently this is a close small local affair and as it is idle we assume that the stock cannot be of any great value. Mr. George W. Bush of Oswego, New York, is interested and informed in regard to this company.

Capital stock authorized 450,000 shares of no par value. No dividends paid. Company was placed in the hands of a receiver in May, 1926. There were also $1,815,250 first gold 8 per cent. bonds, dated November 1, 1921; due November 1, 1931, Canal National Bank, Portalnd, Maine, Trustee. On January 28, 1927, the properties of the company were sold at auction at Rockland, Me., to Harry M. Rice, representing the bondholders, for $240,000 for all the property included under the mortgage, which with accrued interest of $611,624 amounts to $2,156,374 and $4,300 for property not covered by the mortgage. The members of the Bondholders Committee were: F. W. Lafrentz, Wallace P. Harvey and F. A. W. Ireland, with Charles P. Gotchiur, secretary, and office at No. 100 Broadway, New York City. It would therefore appear that the entire property was sold in January, 1927, for less than the bonded indebtedness and interest, so that apparently the stock was wiped out. On December 30, 1927, 24 shares of stock sold at auction for $1 the lot. (See report on East Coast Fisheries Company.)

version of stock of the four older companies, and 100,000 shares of preferred and the same number of common were offered to the public in units of 10 shares of preferred and 10 shares of common at $125 a unit. The stock being offered directly by the new corporation. The DeLaney Products Company was engaged in the manufacture of jams, jellies, canned fruit and other food products. It was claimed that the products of the company had a wide distribution but we understand that the Brockton plant, the largest of those operating, was running with about half its usual force in 1923. The Paul DeLaney Company, the nucleus around which the DeLaney Products Company was formed, was formerly well regarded but it was reported in 1923 that the company had been experiencing some difficulty in meeting its obligations and in that year bankruptcy proceedings were instituted and R. E. Powell and T. A. Schwengel were appointed receivers. In July, 1924, it was reported that the company's affairs were in such a shape as to indicate only a small dividend to creditors. Federal receivers were appointed on March 14, 1924. On January 24, 1927, the Delaware charter of the DeLaney Products Corporation was declared null and void for non-payment of two years' taxes.

Denbich Mining Corporation. This company was originally the Denbigh Silver Lead Mines Company, incorporated in Colorado in 1916, with a capital of $1,000,000, par $1, all issued, listed on Boston Curb, $20,000 indebtedness. Property consisted of leases and bonds for $250,000 on the property of the Whiting Mining and Milling Company, and of the Terrible Dunderberg Mining and Power Company. The 1917-18 market campaign of Thomas W. Lawson, of "Frenzied Finance" fame, sent the stock to $2.25 with a gradual decline of 20c in May, 1919, after the campaign had ended. In October, 1919, Mr. Lawson issued a statement claiming that he dropped the stock because 400,000 shares that had been tied up in a trust company pool were being unloaded in the form of receipts and claimed the company was on the verge of bankruptcy with $25,000 in debts. His reorganization committee forced the Denbigh Mining Corporation to take over the property, the old stock being exchangeable for new on payment of 10c a share. The Denbigh Mining Corporation was reported defunct in 1921 and property was subsequently operated in 1921-22 by the Whiting and Milling Company but without production. There has been no recent news regarding this company's developments. Officers of the Denbigh Mining Corporation were last reported as follows: W. Roch, president; T. F. Lindel, vice-president; G. A. Haskell, treasurer; J. W. Reynolds, secretary, all of Boston, Massachusetts, with H. F. Wells and J. E. Berry, of Boston; J. J. Wendell, of Manchester, Mass., and W. H. Van Riper and associates who were recently arrested by Massachusetts authorities charged with fraudulent advertising.

Denver Railway Securities Company. Purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes dated May 1, 1911, due May 1, 1912. The Denver Railway Securities Company was organized in April, 1911, with $10,000,000 capital stock and acquired the entire capital stock and funded debt of the Colorado-Utah Construction Co., and $4,116,000 common and $4,116,000 preferred and $8,000,000 bonds of the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company representing 8/11ths of the capital stock and bonds of the latter company. The Denver Railway Securities Company acquired the $4,000,000 Colorado-Utah Construction Co. notes, paying for each $1,000 note $125 in cash and $875 in Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes dated May 1, 1911, due May 1, 1912. There were issued $3,500,000 Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes dated May 1, 1911, due May 1, 1912, secured by deposit, with the Equitable Trust Company of New York, trustee, of $4,000,000 Colorado-Utah Construction Company 6 per cent. notes due May 1, 1911, and these latter notes were secured by deposit of $8,000,000 Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company first mortgage 4s due 1952. The Denver Railway Securities Company on May 1, 1912, defaulted in the payment of principal and interest due on its $3,500,000 notes and on May 2, 1912, was placed in the hands of a receiver, as was the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company. A committee was formed representing the Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes of which Benjamin Strong, Jr., was chairman, and this committee requested the deposit of notes under deposit agreement dated May 6, 1912. The deposit agreement of May 6, 1912, provided that unless holders of certificates of deposit withdraw within a period of thirty days after the publication of the plan of readjustment they shall be deemed to have conclusively assented to the plan. The plan of reorganization of the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company, insofar as it effected the Denver Railway Securities Company, was outlined in a circular dated September 27, 1912, issued to the holders of the Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. notes dated May 1, 1911. The committee representing the Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes, dated May 1, 1911, due May 1, 1912, recommended the adoption of the plan of readjustment as outlined in circular dated September 27, 1912, so that holders of certificates of deposit as of October 27, 1912, were deemed to have conclusively assented to the plan. Holders of receipts of deposit not assenting to the plan were notified to withdraw by November 4, 1912. The sale of the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company to the reorganization committee made on April 28, 1913, was confirmed by the court, and the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad assumed control as of May 1, 1913. Under the plan each holder of a certificate of deposit representing Denver Railway Securities Co. purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes dated May 1, 1911, received 85 per cent. in Denver & Salt Lake Railroad Company first mortgage 30-year bonds due 1943 and scrip and also first mortgage bonds and scrip equal to interest due at 6 per cent. per annum from February 1, 1912, to the date of the delivery of the new bonds to the committee, and also an amount of such bonds or scrip equal to the difference between the lesser interest and interest at 5 per cent. per annum for the first four years upon the new bonds, with proper adjustment for anticipation of interest. Therefore the exchange of the Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral trust 6 per cent. gold notes dated May 1, 1911, due May 1, 1912, was effected prior to 1913, and it is the market as of March 1, 1913, of the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad first mortgage bonds that is of interest. At that time the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad first mortgage bonds were not listed on any exchange, nor were they actively traded in the open market. However, there did exist an "over the counter" market prior and subsequent to March 1, 1913, as is evidenced by the following correspondence: George H. Burr & Company of New York, New York, under date of December 12, 1912, wrote: "Replying to your inquiry of the 10th, as to the value of Denver Railway Securities Company purchase money collateral 6s, these will be exchanged probably next month for bonds of the reorganization company—and holders of the Denver Railway Securities notes exchanging their notes at par for the new bonds at 85 cents on the dollar. Mr. Erb and his associates are putting in $1,000,000 cash on the same basis, except that the bondholders' interest is graduated and Mr. Erb's interest is full 5 per cent. cash from the start. The bondholders draw 3 per cent. cash the first three years, 4 per cent. the fourth year and 5 per cent. the fifth year. They receive bonds, however, for the difference between the 3 per cent. and 5 per cent. for the first three years, and between 4 per cent. and 5 per cent. for the fourth year. We are holders of the Denver Railway Securities Co. notes, and we carry them at par, and see no reason to depreciate them. By this we do not mean that we could throw them on the market at par, but when they are converted into bonds on the basis of the bonds at 85 cents we think it most likely that there will be some market for the bonds. We believe the property is amply good for these bonds." C. E. Mitchell & Company of New York, New York, wrote under date of December 12, 1913, as follows: "In reply to your inquiry of December 10th for valuation purposes, we would apply the following prices: Denver & Salt Lake Railroad 1st mortgage 5s, 1943, 85 and interest; Denver & Salt Lake Railroad 1st 5s graduated, interest payable at rate of 3 per cent. for first three years, 4 per cent. for fourth year and 5 per cent. thereafter, 78 and interest; Denver & Salt Lake Railroad 1st 5s graduated, interest payable at rate of 1 per cent for first year, 2 per cent. for second, 3 per cent. for third, 4 per cent. for fourth and 5 per cent. thereafter, 75 and interest. We know of no market for the scrip." George H. Burr & Company of New York, New York, wrote under date of May 7, 1914, as follows: "Replying to your letter of May 6th, in regard to the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad Company bonds: There is no market for these bonds of which we know, nor was there any market on January 2, 1914. However, the fractional scrip convertible into full 5 per cent series A bonds we have been selling at $80 per hundred flat, the graduated 3, 4, 5 per cent. series B scrip we have been selling at $75 per hundred and the graduated 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 per cent. series B scrip we have been selling at $72 per hundred. There has been no trading either way in the adjustment scrip." Newman Erb, president of the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad, wrote, under date of May 9, 1914, as follows: "I have yours of the 6th instant, asking for the value of Denver & Salt Lake first mortgage bonds. A syndicate in which I am interested has been purchasing bonds of this issue, fixed interest, at 82½ net to the company for cash, with a stock bonus, which will give you an indication of their value. The adjustment bonds have been valued at about 50. This applies to the date to which you refer."

Denver Union Water Company. Incorporated under the laws of Colorado in October 14, 1894, with a capital stock of common $5,000,000, par value $100, all outstanding; preferred 5 per cent. non-cumulative $2,500,000, par $100, all outstanding. In the event of a dissolution of the company, all of said stock, both preferred and common, would share alike and ratably in the distribution of the net assets of the company. Dividend: April 10, 1905, preferred 5 per cent., common 5 per cent.; January 2, 1906, preferred 5 per cent., common 5 per cent.; January 2, 1907, preferred 5 per cent., common 5 per cent. Funded debt, $8,000,000 1st mortgage 5s due July 1, 1914. Company also guaranteed the South Platte Canal & Reservoir Company. First mortgage 5s due July 1st, 1923, $4,000,000 authorized; $2,400,000 outstanding. At the time dividends were inaugurated (in 1905) it was unofficially stated that considerable dividends could have been paid, on the preferred at least, but that surplus earnings had been diverted to large improvements. The most substantial addition to the propery, since organization of the aforementioned company, was the South Platte Reservoir, the expense of which was met largely through a special bond issue. There was no reason to suppose that earnings had fallen off to any extent since 1907. Officers: David H. Moffat, president; T. S. Haydon, vice-president; W. P. Miller, secretary; F. G. Moffat, treasurer. Office, Denver, Colorado. Remarks: The property owned by the Denver Union Water Company was evidently very valuable for they had acquired all the available water sites in the neighborhood of Denver. About 1907, on account of the approaching expiration of the franchise, a board of engineers was appointed jointly by the city and by the company to appraise the property with a view to purchase by the city, or extension of the franchise. At a general election the new franchise was defeated and the appraisal of the property was not satisfactory, so the whole affair went to the courts. The court valued the property at $13,415,899, at which price the city purchased the property of the Denver Union Water Company. There were $8,000,000 1st mortgage 5s of the D. U. W. Co. and $2,400,000 1st mortgage 5s of the S. Platte Res. Funded debt, $10,400,000. Value of property, $13,415,899; funded debt, $10,400,000; to be distributed to stockholders and others, $3,015,899. It was reported that on November 1, 1918, the city took over the plant of the company and on November 2, 1918, the first distribution of the assets was made upon presentation of stock certificates in the amount of $20 each. Whether there was another distribution on the stock, we do not know, but would earnestly advise you to write to the comptroller of the city of Denver for further information.

A receiver was appointed for this company on January 25, 1918, following which the property was sold under foreclosure in 1923 and reorganized. The bonds of the company did not receive 100 cents on the dollar and we find the following sales of the stock at auction: On December 19, 1925, 100 shares of common, 100 shares preferred sold in Philadelphia at auction at $2 the lot. We, therefore, believe the common stock without value.

Depew Realty Company. Organized under the laws of New York prior to 1897, and in 1909 reported an authorized capital stock of $400,000, par $100. At that time the officers were: Elmer F. Botsford, vice president; Horatio S. Byrnes, secretary; H. B. Stillman, treasurer; and an office at 2 Rector St., New York, N. Y. In 1908 company was reported to own 187 lots in Buffalo, N. Y. and also property in Depew, N. Y. all of which was heavily mortgaged. The Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York (defunct) is said to have held a $200,000 mortgage on this real estate and apparently this company became financially involved at the time of the Knickerbocker Trust Company receivership which was during the panic of 1907. In 1908 company was reported inoperative and at about that time an officer expressed the opinion that if the mortgages were foreclosed there would probably be little left for the stockholders. As of April 19, 1907, the stock was carried at zero for inheritance tax purposes and as the company has apparently long since ceased to exist we believe the stock now worthless.
